Dear Authors to the ISVS e-journal,

I am delighted to be able to share the fact that the ISVS e-journal 10.5 has just been published, carrying your papers. Some of you who have made the payments and sent me the receipts are published although some payments have still not been received. They will be removed if the payments are not realized within a week.

Some payments are also less than the agreed publication fee and I am afraid I will need to contact you individually on those issues.

If you have not paid at all, although we have decided to publish, you will see them in the contents: the files have also been uploaded. However, they will remain disabled for access until the payments are made. If no payments are received in a week, they will be removed.

Thank you for your valuable contribution to the ISVS e-journal.
